Careless people blunder when they think that lean purses are helped by buying "cheap" shoes. The people who most need to save really ROGERS, PEET & Co. waste by buying trash.

Now the Wanamaker business would collapse if all people were careless or ignorant of real values. It grows because more and more people are finding it to be the one most economical store. Special sales like the one we've told of, are object lessons. They are held apart from the regular shoe store, because we haven't room there. There is plenty of room on the Fifth floor-and express elevators to carry you there.
